Principal Seeks Further Study Of School Schedule

—At Salt Spring Island

Length of daily school hours, in accordance with the Chant report recommendations, came under lively discussion at the regular meeting of trustees of Gulf Islands School District No. 64, held in the school at Ganges, recently.

J. M. Evans, principal, asked for a revision of the previously accepted schedule of six hours, extending the school day to 4 p.m. for the secondary school. After observation of students and consultation with teachers, Mr. Evans considered that a day starting at 8.45 a.m., with 50 minutes for lunch, and closing at 3.45 p.m. would be more useful. This would give 5½ hours' teaching time.

A. D. Dane expressed approval of the recommended change and suggested that bus stops could be placed further apart to save time. The question of bus stops will be reviewed.

G. S. Humphreys questioned the wisdom of the new schedule. In his opinion six hours' teaching time was needed to avoid the necessity of summer school. J. M. Campbell, Saturna, agreed with Mr. Humphreys and said that the Chant report recommendation should be followed.

Chairman George Heinekey asked Mr. Evans to reconsider the timetable and bring a firm schedule to the next meeting.

AMALGAMATION

Another lively discussion developed when Mr. Dane sought to re-open the subject of amalgamation of North and South Salt Spring school areas, stating that he had a letter from the department of education received too late for the agenda, which he felt should be read to the board.

The chairman ruled that Mr. Dane's request was out of order. The matter of amalgamation had been fully reviewed, voted upon and was now closed.

Mr. Dane claimed that the ruling was undemocratic, in that he was refused permission to read a letter pertaining to school board business. Members, while upholding the chair, allowed the letter to be read.

From the minister of education, the letter stated that the nine trustees could be elected from the community at large, but can be chosen from attendance areas. The board could request a change in the procedure; districts concerned should make their opinions known to the board.

Mr. Campbell said there was nothing new in the letter. The whole matter had been thoroughly discussed and should be considered completely closed. A motion was approved, supporting the ruling of the chair to this effect.

WHICH FLAG?
Criticism of a recent article in the local press, referring to the new B.C. flag, which was flown for a short time from the school mast, was voiced by Mr. Dane. He said the flag was official and should be honored and respected. He pointed out that the School Act does not say what flag should be hoisted.

In general, the board members took a broad view of the matter. Mr. Campbell said that the federal government, some time ago, passed an order that the official flag of Canada, the red ensign, should be flown from all public buildings. He did not want to see the board criticizing the press.

C. W. Harrison expressed concern about the number of car accidents left to Mrs. Barner, Mr. Evans and reported each year, involving students going to or from graduation. (Continued on Page Five)

RE-ELECTED

A. W. SHARP

Sidney village clerk, A. W. Sharp has been named to the executive of the B.C. Municipal Officers' Association for the fifth time. Mr. Sharp was re-elected at the recent annual meeting of the association.

No Ball Games

All Little League baseball games scheduled for Saturday, June 17 have been cancelled so that all the boys who belong to Cub packs in the Tsartlip district can attend the rally at Centennial Park in Central Saanich.

Seven Vie For Queen Contest As Newcomers Are Invited

Last call for entrants in the Miss Sidney queen contest is being issued. Seven contestants so far have signified their intention to vie for the crown.

The contest this year has been somewhat simplified due to lack of time. Formerly it had been necessary for the girls to display some type of talent during the contest, but with little time left for rehearsals,

Council Raps Unauthorized Water Users At Swartz Bay

—Warning Given Against Practice

Under no circumstances will Central Saanich municipal water department supply unauthorized connections to the Swartz Bay pipeline in the future. This flat statement was approved by Central Saanich council on Tuesday evening and notice to that effect is to be served immediately on the British Columbia Toll Authority and others. Enquiries had failed to elicit information as to who had authorized the supply of municipal water to Piers Island and the Dolphin Road area.

The two connections are those serving Piers Island and the Dolphin Road area. The reeve also criticized the lack of a meter to the Dolphin Road area, which was connected without authority, he observed and therefore no meter has been installed.

Reeve Lee further called for a notification to be served on Russell Potter and Associates that such connections will not in future be accepted.

The association is the engineering firm which was responsible for the preliminary planning of water in the municipality.

The municipality has also authorized a survey of the water potential of the municipal system in order to ascertain to what extent outside areas can be supplied in the future.

The reeve reported that he had been in communication with an engineer from the water rights branch of the provincial government who had enquired regarding this potential in order to tie it in with the water survey of North Saanich currently being carried out by the provincial government.

"We know the capacity of the system," said the reeve, "but we must have a report of its actual capacity."

In an interview with Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi on Tuesday Reeve Lee protested the department's generosity in permitting new consumers to hook up with the water system serving the Swartz Bay ferry wharf.

KNEW NOTHING

The minister told him he knew nothing of it, reported the reeve. He was sympathetic and promised to look into it immediately. The minister advised Reeve Lee that the matter came directly under the jurisdiction of the Toll Authority.

The reeve also expressed concern that the meter on the line to Swartz Bay had been placed at the northern extremity of the pipeline. This meant that any leakage in the government-owned line was a cost to the municipality. He asked for approval of the council for the establishment of suitable meter at the southern extremity. The meter will cost in the vicinity of $800, he reported, but it will be a master guide in future to total consumption through that system and a guard against meeting the cost of any water losses. Council supported his recommendation.

INVITATION

The water rights branch will be invited to furnish an engineer to address the water committee at a meeting in the near future and to offer advice in the direction of this department.

The reeve apologized for bringing up a direct water committee matter in open council. He felt that the matter was of sufficient urgency to merit its immediate consideration, he stated.

The council also expressed disapproval of any plan by the federal department of agriculture to remove its storage tanks at the experimental farm. The council had been warned that a direct connection with the balancing tank would represent a severe threat on the tank.

The experimental farm will be advised that the department cannot serve the consumers directly and that a tank must be maintained.

Kinsmen Direct Parade

Parade on Sidney Day, July 1, will be directed by the Kinsmen club of Sidney. In charge of the parade are Frank Daugherty and Gordon Campbell.

The club has organized all business houses and organizations in the district urging them to enter floats for the parade. A total of more than 120 such letters have been distributed by the sponsoring club.

Parade will assemble at its usual starting point, Queens and Fifth, at 10 a.m. on Sidney Day, moving through Sidney to the memorial park.

A greater volume of entries than has been the case in past years is sought by the sponsors.

COAL-BURNING YACHT CLEARS CUSTOMS HERE

Unusual visitor to Sidney last week was the Feng Shui, large sea-going yacht from Japan. The vessel cleared customs at Sidney while taking on coal. She is the first coal-burning vessel of her kind to call into Sidney for many months.

The vessel is owned by Richard Stewart of Piers Island and is registered in Japan.

In addition to the name of the vessel and her home port of Soemba the Feng Shui carries her identity in Chinese.

New Late Ferry Is Planned

The new late ferry will be introduced this month between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen.

The management of the British Columbia Toll Authority Ferry System has announced that the summer schedule will be effective from Friday, June 30 through Tuesday, September 5.

Two additional sailings daily are involved and ferries will leave from both Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay every two hours on the odd hours, 5 a.m. to 11 p.m.

SUBDIVISION BY-LAW TO BE OVERHAULED

Central Saanich subdivision by-law is to be re-written. Following some criticism of its shortcomings by councillors on Tuesday evening Municipal Clerk D. S. Wood announced that he would present a draft copy of a revised by-law to councillors within the next two weeks.

Good Neighbor At Deep Cove Victim Of Thieves

A man who has lived for years as a good neighbor in Deep Cove has been the victim of petty thieves. Last week Watson Smith was the victim of burglars who broke into his Madrona Drive workshop and stole a welding plant.

The theft is a blow which strikes far beyond the owner. Mr. Smith must replace his equipment at a cost of about $150. His friends and neighbors are deprived of the facilities he has lost.

Since the Second World War Mr. Smith has put his principle of good neighborliness into practice. There has never been a call for help by local residents to which Mr. Smith has failed to respond. No widow or orphan in the district has been left unassisted while he has resided there.

The name of Watson Smith has been synonymous for years with community service.

This incident is the second in weeks. His workshop was broken into several weeks ago when batteries and other small items were stolen.

Red Tape Only Delay In Road Re-routing Says Minister

"There's a lot of red tape at Ottawa," said the contention of Hon. P. A.

Gagliardi, provincial minister of highways. He was speaking to The Review this week on progress towards construction of a highway diversion around the eastern side of Patricia Bay airport.

"We're just waiting for word from Ottawa right now," continued the minister. "If Ottawa gives us the 'green light' without delay the highway diversion will be completed this year. I can promise you that." Under agreement reached between the two governments, the federal government will pay for the highway diversion to existing standards and pay for the rights-of-way. The actual highway work will be supervised by the provincial government.

"Last letter I had from Ottawa said that Transport Minister Balcer was going to seek approval of the treasury board for the highway diversion," said Mr. Gagliardi. "Whether or not he ever received approval, we don't know. It takes them a long time to act in Ottawa."

"We are continuing to make surveys to be all ready to start the job. After Ottawa approves, we must acquire the rights-of-way. That can't be done overnight, as you know. But I am confident we would have the highway complete by this fall if it were started right now," he concluded.

According to this schedule any projected work on the runway extension would be hunched with the advent of the winter rains, rendering the program virtually impractical until next year.

Meets With Criticism

Department of highways is not enamored of any plan to provide a right turn from Patricia Bay highway to Keating Cross Road.

The minister, Hon. P. A. Gagliardi, wrote to Central Saanich council suggesting that the driver seeking to reach Keating Cross Road could readily make a turn at some point north of the junction of the two roads.

A right turn for southbound motorists at this point would jeopardize the free flow of traffic, suggested the minister.

The matter is being investigated, he concluded.

New Name

Telegraph Road, off Patricia Bay highway at Keating, will soon be a piece out of history.

The road is to be renamed Island View Road. The change has been authorized by Central Saanich council.

OFFICE PROCEDURE

Rumor Of Delay In McTavish Road Project Is Unfounded

Rumor of a delay in the widening of McTavish Road owing to disinclination of the federal department of agriculture to co-operate is without foundation. The Review was told this week.

Saanich MLA John Tisdalle explained that a delay had arisen over the office procedure and that the provincial and federal departments concerned are undertaking this work at the present time.

The federal department approved the widening of the road before the work was commenced, explained Mr. Tisdalle.

The Saanich member noted that there remains some questions as to whether there are sufficient funds available to complete the surfacing program this year.

He also advised The Review that the question of adequate signing of the highway in accordance with an earlier request of Central Saanich chamber of commerce has been referred to the appropriate government department. He has urged that in the meantime the Mills Road route be suitably indicated as a means of reaching West Saanich and thence Victoria.

Mr. Tisdalle has advocated the re-numbering of West Saanich Road as 17-A to indicate to tourists and visitors that it does, in fact, offer an alternative route to Victoria.

He Is Not Impressed

When Machinery Takes Longer

A resident of the Sidney area is intrigued with the effective value of machinery as a labor-saver. This elderly resident reports that a decade ago his home was the scene of a works crew laying a culvert. Three men appeared, he recalls, shortly after eight o'clock in the morning. With picks and shovels they removed the surplus earth from the roadside and rolled in the cement pipes for the culvert. The work completed, they departed at 2 p.m. the same day.

Ten years passed. One morning he observed the early arrival of a crew to install a culvert on the opposite side of the road. This time there were four men on the job. There was also a machine designed for the purpose of removing earth from one place to dump it in another.

For the first part of the job he failed to observe closely. After his lunch he was surprised to find that the work was far from completed.

NEAR COMPLETION

The reader kept a closer watch on the project and noted that by the end of the afternoon the job was nearing completion. The crew reappeared the following morning and completed it.

The observer, who commenced his working career in the days before mechanical aids had been introduced, feels that manpower proved itself long before machinery. He is not entirely sold on that machinery today.

To Call Tenders For Hall

At a recent meeting of the Salt Spring Island Fire Protection committee it was decided to have plans drawn and tenders called for the new fire hall. The fill on the site in Ganges has been completed.

It is hoped that work on the building will start next month.

Tides Must Wait

Tides have been the subject of innumerable comments by writers over the years. Few readers have failed to learn that time and tide wait for no man. They certainly have not waited for The Review. But now they must do so.

A regular tide table was published in The Review until a month or so ago when it was curtailed. Many readers have communicated with The Review protesting this curtailment.

Some weeks ago a member of the typographical staff of The Review removed a small piece of steel from one of the typesetting machines. He placed it where he could readily find it once his work was completed. He never saw it again. A replacement was fitted and all was well until a few days later it, in its turn, was removed for maintenance purposes. Placed carefully in a conspicuous place, it also disappeared.

The errant piece of metal is worth a few cents, but the machine is inoperative in various fields of endeavor in the absence of this small fitting. It will be replaced when it can be procured from the manufacturers in the eastern United States. In the meantime the production of the tide table is impractical.

Peninsula Players Elect New Officers

The annual meeting of the Peninsula Players was held in St. Andrew's hall on Tuesday night, June 6, with fourteen members present. After the reading of the yearly reports, the following officers were elected for the coming season. President, Ailsa Rothery vice-president, Dick Chudley; secretary, Florence Smith; treasurer, Pat Montgomery; executive members, Ruth Chudley, Barbara Munro, Rea Smith.

Carnation corsages were presented to the bride-to-be and her mother, Mrs. K. Thorne. Guests were Misses Lynn McLellan, Sharon

Guide Notes

Guides of the Sidney company have been very busy during the past few weeks, and when the weather has permitted, held all their meetings outdoors.

During the recent semi-finals in the competition held at Camp Kingswood, the patrol led by Julie Cox did extremely well considering their age and lack of experience. The competition was open to the whole district, and each company sent one patrol to compete. The Sidney patrol was highly commended for its neatness and complete uniforms, and took first place in the first aid tests. For the meeting following the competition, the girls put into practice some of the things they had learned, and held their meeting on the beach, where the girls of the competition patrol prepared a real cook-out meal.

On a recent pre-arranged visit to the Patricia Bay airport, the guides were given a complete tour. Inspection of a Viscount, conducted by W. MacNutt gave the girls a real thrill as it was the first time many had set foot aboard an aircraft, and the stewardess on board gave them all little mementoes of the occasion. A

Three Sidney Girls Pass Dancing Exam

Three Sidney girls, students of the Rae Burns School of Dancing, are among those ballet students recently successful in passing the examinations set by the Royal Academy of Dancing. Julie Cox and Peri Wright were commended on their Grade 3 tests, and Joan Gardner obtained a pass-plus.

Miss Pauline Dibb of London, England, conducted the examinations held in Victoria in May. "Ballet in Education" is part of the wide program set by the Royal Academy of Dancing and students are sent from England to conduct testing of ballet students throughout the British Commonwealth. The Royal Academy which was incorporated by royal charter, has as its patron, Her Majesty the Queen, and as its president, Dame Margot Fonteyn, D.B.E.

COUNCIL DESIGNED TO WELCOME NEW CITIZENS

"A citizen is a person who enjoys the most privileged type of nationality," said Mrs. H. L. Smith, as she spoke to the members and guests at the first installation banquet of the Business and Professional Women's club held by the Sidney Branch recently.

Mrs. Smith, who is the president of the Greater Victoria Citizenship Council, outlined the work of the council from its beginning as a small group interested in the problems of immigrants to this country, to its important work now as it welcomes new citizens of Canada. Formerly obtaining one's citizenship was a cold, impersonal matter of being handed the necessary papers by an official, but now, since the formation of the council, it is a day to be remembered by the immigrant obtaining his cherished possession.

Following the ceremony in the Victoria court house, a reception is held, where the new Canadians are warmly welcomed, interest shown in their lives and welfare, and a warm feeling for their new country is instilled in them. Mrs. Ella Harrison visit to the Victoria Flying Club, the Navy hangars, and through the huge Mars aircraft showed the girls a variety of planes, and on a visit to the control tower, the operator gave them a short lecture and explained the workings of the tower.

The Guides with their leaders, Mrs. Cantwell, Mrs. Callard and Mrs. Caspar are now preparing for a short camping trip to be held on private property from July 2 to July 6.

thanked the guest speaker for broadening the views on citizenship.

HEAD TABLE

Head table guests at the dinner were introduced by the president, Mrs. W. Harker, and included Miss Bess Forbes, national vice-president; Miss Hilda Hesson, a past national president; Miss Ella Brett, president of the Victoria club; Mrs. S. Roberts, member of the club, but representing the village of Sidney council; and the president and two members from the Duncan club.

Installation of the new officers was conducted by Miss H. Hesson, as each lit a candle from the central one representing the flame of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women. Officers for the new season are Mrs. W. Harker, president; Mrs. B. M. Lassfolk, vice-president, who was absent due to illness and had Mrs. K. Thorne as her proxy to take her vows; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. Horth; recording secretary, Mrs. Ella Harrison; and treasurer Mrs. Betty Eckert. In wishing the club success in the coming year, Miss Hesson said she marvelled at what had been accomplished by this new club in the past and always difficult, first year.

Miss Bess Forbes was called upon by the president to speak on the recent international banquet held in Bellingham during the Washington state convention. At this banquet the chairman recalled how 40 years ago the presidents of the then-new Victoria and Seattle clubs met at the Former Sidney Resident Passes

Mrs. H. McKillican, Shoreacre Rest Home, and William Roberts of Fifth Street, received word this week of the passing of their sister-in-law, Mrs. A. Roberts, Elk River, Minnesota. Mrs. Roberts, formerly of Sidney, died on June 5.

She is survived by her husband, three sons and one daughter. Peace Arch in an impressive ceremony. The same two ladies were special guests at this banquet, and with miniature replicas of the famous Peace Arch, repeated the pledges made by them so many years ago, and asked that 40 years from now the same ceremony be repeated.

SHADY CREEK GROUP HEARS OF ANGOLA

June meeting of the Shady Creek United church WA was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Speare with nine members and several visitors present.

Mrs. J. G. G. Bompas presided and Mrs. Speare took over the duties of secretary. Mrs. H. P. Pearson led the devotional period. Mr. and Mrs. Jameson of Victoria gave talks on their son Keith's work as a missionary engineer in Angola, Africa. A tape recording was heard of the welcome given to Mr. Jameson and another new missionary on their arrival at the mission station in Camundongo.

Mrs. E. E. Cunningham, treasurer, reported a good financial balance on hand. It was decided to confer with the church board regarding the laying of a new floor in the church.

The next meeting will be held in September. Mesdames Cunningham, Hilton and Pearson assisted the hostess with the refreshments.

CENTRAL SAANICH

JAMES ISLAND

There was excitement and pride shown at James Island school when the president of the Saanich Peninsula Credit Union, D. W. Ruffe, arrived to award prizes which the children had won in a recent poster contest, conducted for the schools' credit unions. Among other adults present, besides Mr. Ruffe and the teachers, D. McColl and Mrs. Hall, were parents Mesdames King, Skinner and Thornhill as well as the island representative for James Island school, Mrs. A. Raine. Winners of prizes were Terry King, Janet Horne and Raymond Sidwell in Mr. McColl's room, with honorable mention going to Judith Thornhill.

Among the junior grades, Geri Skinner and Elizabeth Thornhill won prizes. Considering the fact that this poster contest was held for all of the elementary schools on the Peninsula, the residents of James Island are justly proud of the number of budding artists who won prizes in their school.

The annual meeting of the James Island community church was held recently and the secretary reported a very active year. Certain sums of money were designated to the Sunday school for children attending camp; to the Unitarian Services Committee at Ottawa, to further assist their work and to the Moore club on James Island. The sum of $25 was also voted towards the Matsun Sunset Lodge. Mrs. R. B. Carpenter reported that a goodly collection of used clothing, recently picked up by the Cubs and Scouts on behalf of the church committee, had been forwarded to the Shantymen's Association for distribution. Nomination of officers for the coming year found most of the committee re-elected, with C. H. King returning as chairman; Mrs. J. Roper as secretary; A. Rowbottom, treasurer; Mrs. R. B. Carpenter, tea convener and flower arrangements; K. Wood, house man and Mrs. A. Rowbottom, pianist and choir leader.

NEW EXECUTIVE FOR MOORE CLUB

The annual general meeting of the Moore Club was held recently at which most of the executive committee members were re-elected to office.

Secretary S. R. Nash, reported on the year's activities, which included a number of improvements to the club and various items of entertainment. The treasurer's report, despite the aforementioned items, proved quite stable, despite the few families now residing on the island. Other reports were made and new business discussed.

Nomination of officers found A. Mackinnon resigning as vice-president and his office taken over by C. H. King. President, C. J. Skinner; secretary, S. R. Nash, and treasurer, Mrs. S. B. Bond, were unanimously re-elected.

The choice of three committees found R. C. Rivers chosen as sports chairman, with two others to take the offices of entertainment and house man yet to be named.

breathing was shown by Miss Brunt, the school nurse. Two delightful films were presented by Mr. Seymour Parks, the first showing the beautiful parks and campsites on Vancouver Island and the southern mainland, and the second, titled "Legend of the West", covered vacation spots in the Cariboo district. These excellent films were very much enjoyed by the members present.

During the business meeting plans were discussed for a P.T.A. auction to be held in mid-October. Parents are asked to start now and collect during the summer items which they wish to donate. Mr. Bob Spooner will head the committee in charge of this event.

Plans were also made for a bake sale which was held at Mow's Farm Market on Sunday, June 4, with Mrs. Fran Spooner in charge, assisted by Mrs. Marie Spooner, Mrs. Molly Carey, Mrs. Velma Hamilton, Mr. Bob Spooner and Mr. Dick Spooner.

New officers for the 1961-62 term were elected. Mrs. Carey was elected president; Mrs. M. Spooner, vice-president; Mrs. Hamilton, secretary; and Mr. Ozero was returned as treasurer. Others elected were as follows: program committee, Mrs. Bain and Mrs. F. Spooner; membership, Mrs. Patterson; publicity and historian, Mrs. Wonnacott; social, Mrs. Coombs and Mrs. Bates.

Society Seeks Training Facilities In Province

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, since its inception in 1948, has relied mainly on British and Australian girls to man the force of physiotherapists so urgently needed to provide treatment service throughout the province of B.C. Courses in Canada were few and far between, the nearest being at the University of Alberta in Edmonton. Fees are high for all university courses, added to the extra cost of living needed to train a B.C. girl outside her province, girls who wished to train for this profession had quite a hurdle to negotiate. Branches of CARS urged local groups to donate funds towards bursaries to help girls to attain their university training, but the shortage became worse and worse.

Now, in 1961, CARS faces serious curtailment of services in provincial areas, by August of this year ten physiotherapists will have left the service, and to date, no replacements have appeared. This will leave nine branches with severely restricted treatment services or, in certain places, with no treatment service at all.

CONSTANT CALL

Throughout the years, being aware of the desperate shortages soon to come, CARS has constantly pressured for a school of rehabilitation at the University of British Columbia.

With help from branches and friends all over B.C. the way was paved to the planning stages. Last fall Dr. Brock Fahrni was charged with planning the school, and hopes were high that classes would commence in the fall of 1961.

Announcement of the opening of the school is now awaited from the university.

The university cannot open the school until funds are found to renovate an old wooden building which could be used for lecture and practice rooms. CARS, realizing the urgency of the problem, will provide $5,000 and another $1,200 has been pledged by friends of the society committee.

Only 16 of the 25 names required have been received for the proposed kindergarten.

Permission was given to F. C. Conero for use of washrooms at Pender Island school by a mission camp, for one week in July.

A letter of thanks will be sent to Mrs. George Dewhurst, assistant custodian at Ganges school, who is retiring.

All members of the board were present at the meeting. The next meeting will be held July 13.

HIGHWAY TO SANSCHA

A WIDE concern has been expressed in Sidney and North Saanich regarding the future of the Patricia Bay Inland Highway alongside the community hall.

The directors of Sanscha and the board of the North Saanich War Memorial Park Society have already approached Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi on the subject. It is perfectly logical that these groups would take every precaution to ensure that the community hall and park are not jeopardized in any way.

Nevertheless, we must appreciate that at the present time no concrete evidence has been offered by either provincial or federal government to indicate that the road is going to be changed in any way. Until this is substantiated the route of the highway remains little more than rumor.

Furthermore, it is inconceivable that the federal or provincial government would jeopardize a community facility which has already contributed so largely to the public weal without adequate and probably generous compensation for the loss of any convenience. In North Saanich last year numbers of property owners who forfeited land to the ferry route expressed general satisfaction with the compensation they received.

The public at large, already closely identified with Sanscha, will do well to keep a careful eye on the progress of developments. Beyond this, there is nothing of a positive nature to be undertaken at this time. It would be as foolhardy to jump the gun as to ignore the circumstances.

Those residents of the district who have expressed close concern with the developments here will be well advised to acquaint themselves with the circumstances. Beyond this they are better employed in the maintenance of a watching brief than in the premature launching of a protest against a somewhat abstract rumor.

In the meantime Sanscha plans a meeting in the near future at which the problems brought up by the highway re-routing will be discussed. Interested residents of the district can make a greater contribution to the community hall group by attendance at this meeting in order to acquaint themselves with the facts, than by jumping into the picture prematurely.

CURRICULA

WHILE school boards throughout the province have been nibbling at the edges of the Chant report, few have implemented any of its recommendations other than those which have patently received the acclaim of the provincial government.

The exception is the Gulf Islands School District. This aggressive little school district has taken the bull by the horns and has presented a plan for increasing school hours in the high school grades whereby the student gains an hour of study each day.

With the announcement of its new plans for increased time in class came the suggestion that this program might fulfill the purpose of summer school offered last year for the students who sought to complete their grades, but required additional study to surmount the set work.

The educational authority was satisfied that a summer school would materially benefit a number of students. This was evident from the very fact that the classes were offered. It is a logical step from that point to the increase of school time.

The principal and others concerned have offered an alternative schedule providing for increased study periods, but a decrease in the length envisaged by the board of trustees.

The manner in which this major change might be implemented influences the thinking behind it but little. Irrespective of the final decision of the trustees on the ultimate scheduled hours, they are to be warmly commended for their efforts towards improved academic standards.

EMOTIONAL AID

WITHIN the last several weeks a North Saanich family victims of the national recession, was destitute and desperate. At the crucial moment a number of friends rallied to the aid of the family and gained an immediate relief.

Although deprivation has not been widespread in this district during the economic insecurity of the past several years, there have been instances of difficulty even to the extent of desperation.

There is a strange character to these circumstances. Had the family in question been in the same circumstances following a spectacular accident they would have been supplied with unlimited assistance. Food, clothing and every conceivable commodity would have been thrust upon them from far and near. But because they were the victims of a national period of insecurity they gained little help and no public sympathy.

We are all potential victims of this emotionalism in public response. Because a family suffers a blow in spectacular circumstances it may be assumed that every form of aid will be theirs, irrespective of whether or not that need is sought or wanted.

In the meantime, the family suffering quietly from the effects of economic disaster or ill health struggles on without assistance. Yet this family may be in far greater need of help.

Our values are hopelessly confused. We can see the isolated instance because it is thrust upon us. The need of our immediate neighbor is neglected for lack of ostentation.

While we are prepared to apply only our emotions and never our intelligence to these appeals, the needy will remain in need and the accident victim will frequently remain embarrassed.

Letters To The Editor

It was with a sense of shock that I read in the Review of May 24 an article saying the provincial authorities have plans well on the way for placing the new stretch of highway across the park surrounding Sanscha hall. Unless I have my facts wrong, this park belongs to the people of Sidney, and Sanscha hall is, we know by experience, one of Sidney's outstanding amenities. Nothing should be allowed to encroach upon its usefulness.

London and its famous parks are far from the village of Sidney more than the geographical sense that the following anecdote is relevant, and I am sure would interest all those who care about the future

Old And New -- Side By Side

Director Plans Big Program For Vancouver Festival

(By RALPH KENDALL)

"My arrangements with Vancouver Festival this summer will be like living in sin. A sort of marriage on 'spec'." Thus spoke New York theatrical director Herbert Berghof, at a recent meeting of actors and actresses when he outlined his plans for two of the international events in this year's International Festival of the Arts.

Mr. Berghof had flown in from New York that afternoon but there was no evidence of travel weariness in the humorous and interesting talk he gave to the local players who were to audition for him next of Sidney and its people.

Last October I was standing in Kensington Gardens feasting my eyes on London's autumnal beauty. At the same time I was in conversation with one of the guides at Kensington Palace. To one who has spent her working life in the administration of public recreation what he had to say was fascinating and heartening.

In recent years the traffic problem in Park Lane became apparently insoluble. Hemmed in by Hyde Park, there seemed no possible way of widening the road. The land of the park could not be touched for it was given to the people of England by royal grant. Well, a solution had to be found, so the wide new roadway today lies under the Park between Hyde Park corner and Marble Arch. What makes this particularly interesting is that even to tunnel under the park, consent of the people had to be asked through an act of parliament.

Another fact about the royal parks of London delighted me. We were told that on entering Kensington Gardens near Notting Hill, one can walk the approximately four miles to Whitehall and Westminster without ever leaving the parks except to cross the roads dividing one park from another. As many know these areas were once upon a time royal gardens and today belong to the people by royal charter, in the case of Hyde Park the gift was made by King Charles I. That people have treasured these gifts is apparent to all who visit London.

GRATITUDE

May I, through your paper, say how humbly proud I am that the people of Esquimalt-Saanich have chosen me to represent them as their Member of Parliament. To all of my supporters I offer my sincere thanks. I will do everything in my power to justify their faith in me.

To all the residents of Esquimalt-Saanich I give assurance that I will represent them to the very best of my ability.

day for parts in the play, "Men, Women and Angels". He described the play, by French dramatist Jean Giraudoux, as a satire on marriage which takes place in the biblical cities of Sodom and Gomorrah. An angel of vengeance has come to destroy the cities with brimstone and fire, but a reprieve will be granted if only a perfect couple can be found. We all know the two cities perished, but it will be interesting to see how it comes about in this play.

Many people will remember Hal Holbrook from last year's festival, with his brilliant characterization of Mark Twain. This talented actor is to appear with Walter Slezak in a post-war German play, "Do You Know the Milky Way?", and this play will also be directed by Berghof.

These two North American premieres are the start of a policy of presenting new plays by the world's finest dramatists, and making the Vancouver Festival one of truly international repute.

A third North American premiere which promises to be one of the most exciting events of the festival, is that of the new Benjamin Britten opera, "A Midsummer Night's Dream", based on the Shakespeare comedy. Heading an impressive list of talented performers is soprano Mary Costa, as Titania, Queen of the Fairies; and Russell Oberlin, as Oberon, King of the Fairies.

WELCOME RETURN
Since Mary Costa is a personal friend there is special delight for me in welcoming her back to Vancouver. She appeared here two years ago as Euridice, and has had a number of great successes since. I feel most people will join me in saying to Mary:

"This is not Hades,
But Euridice is
Most welcome back
As sweet Titania."

With the rest of the talent line-up to include Harry Belafonte and Miriam Makeba, the Red Army Chorus and the New York City Ballet; not to mention a Searchlight Tattler, another play, a chamber orchestra and a stack of foreign films, this looks like being a tremendous summer. Advance bookings are now being taken at the Queen Elizabeth theatre, and there could be worse ways of spending a holiday... or a less harmonious kind of marriage to that envisioned by Mr. Berghof.

These two North American premieres are the start of a policy of presenting new plays by the world's finest dramatists, and making the Vancouver Festival one of truly international repute.

A bitter and moist battle is looming as a feature of Sidney's Diamond Jubilee program on June 27. Fire Chief Art Holster of Central Saanich volunteer fire department has issued a challenge to Fire Chief G. A. Gardner of the North Saanich brigade. The challenge was promptly accepted and the rival brigades will fight a water battle during the festivities.

On Tuesday afternoon last week, the members of St. Mary's Guild held a meeting at the home of Mrs. T. M. Jackson, Fulford. The president was in the chair and six members were present. Prior to the meeting, finished articles for the day were handed in and priced.

North Saanich Students Place In Essay Contest

Third place in the province-wide essay contest conducted by the Credit Unions was won by Miss Nancy Miller of North Saanich high school. As winner of the local essay contest, Miss Miller's entry was forwarded to Vancouver and chosen from among the hundreds submitted through all the branches of credit unions in British Columbia. Second place in the local contest was won by Linnet Lannon, and prize cheques were presented to the students by Mrs. R. Tuttle during the Awards Day ceremony at North Saanich on Friday.

The poster contest, conducted at the same time for the younger students in the North Saanich area, in the grade one to grade three group first prize went to Geraldine Skinner of James Island school, second to Maureen Bailey of Brentwood, and third to Elizabeth Thornhill of James Island and honorable mention to Bobby Gordon of Sansbury. In the grade four to six section, the first three awards went to James Island students, Terry King, Janet Horne and Raymond Sidwell respectively, and honorable mention given to Judith Thornhill also of James Island and to Janet Southern of Brentwood. Presentation of award cheques to the James Island students was made by D. Ruffe, president of the Saanich Peninsula credit union.

Memorial Park and Children's Playground will be officially opened by M. B. Jackson, MPP. A formal opening speech and a parade are to feature the affair. As it is expected that about 1300 cadets will be in camp here at that time some events on the program are to open to cadets only, and an invitation has been forwarded to officers of the cadet camp to allow the cadets to compete in any or all events of the program.

On the night of May 24 one of the most successful dances took place in the Mayne Island hall. About 150 people took part, there being a number from Fulford Harbor, Galiano and Saturna. The orchestra was voted the best ever heard on Mayne Island. A most recherche supper was served and the dancing was kept up until 3:30 a.m.

The manufacturer of an article usually puts on the product the specified limitations so that the purchasing public will not expect too much from their purchase. Otherwise some would buy a light saw and expect it to stand up to continually cutting through heavy material. Such articles are often stamped as for "domestic use only". Thereby the producer assured the purchaser of getting his full value from the article bought.

God, the manufacturer of man, also knows that man has limitations and has therefore sent a book of instructions so that man may learn his limitations and provide for them. These instructions deal with the problems of this life and therefore it is good to read them for daily help but the Bible also speaks of man's eternal life. Man's ability to do anything in this regard is negligible—therefore God has sent directions as to what we must do to obtain it.

Eternal life is free to man upon his confession of sin and his asking for salvation that has already been purchased by the death of the Lord Jesus Christ on the cross. God tells us that we should "ask and receive that our joy may be full". God tells us how it can be attained and then provides the way. Let us do our part and ask Him for it.

Picnic To Include Tour Of Experimental Farm Grounds

The regular monthly meeting of the Garden Club was held in the banquet room of the Hotel Sidney with Mrs. H. R. Townshend in the chair. There was a good attendance of members and visitors. As the monthly competition was roses there were many lovely bouquets and single specimens to be judged. Winners were, for single rose: 1, Mrs. Andrews; 2, Mrs. Powers; 3, Mrs. Drummond. For the bouquet of roses: 1, Mrs. Mitchell; 2, Mr. de Macedo and 3, Mr. Ching.

A sketch of a flower arrangement to be made for the Victoria horticultural society summer show in the Victoria curling rink, June 23 and 24, was discussed. The following volunteered to act on a committee to complete this project, Mrs. Kirby, Sr., Mrs. M. A. Kirby, Mr. H. Kirby, Mr. P. Drummond, Mrs. Swainston and Mrs. Powers.

The date and place of this year's picnic is July 6 in the experimental farm grounds. It is hoped that a tour of the beautiful grounds will be arranged and if so the time will be announced.

Mr. P. Drummond brought his collection of colored slides showing the wonders and beauties of the Hawaiian islands. The pictures were taken by himself and were extremely enjoyable. Coffee and cookies were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Census Is Guide To Housing Conditions Across Canada

Mystery of Canada's "missing" dwelling units will be solved by the June census.

Latest estimates place the number of Canadian dwelling units at something over 4,500,000. But if past experience holds true—and expectations are that it will—that estimate falls below the actual level.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation has done its best to keep track of the number of new houses built since 1941. By relating known building rates to the number of old dwellings, together with allowances for old houses torn down or burned down, the CMHC is able to estimate the number of Canadian homes month by month.

But a census provides the actual number of new dwellings built in individual localities, as well as housebuilding rates. Following the 1951 and 1956 censuses, CMHC revised its estimates upwards. The same process of revision is expected to begin again this autumn, after preliminary counts of dwelling units are available.

IMPROVEMENT

The corporation expects that housing conditions have improved significantly in the past decade. There is less "doubling up" among families, and fewer houses lack running water and adequate heating. But only a census of Canada can reveal a precise answer to the question: How much better are Canadian homes now than they were 10 years ago?

The census will also show where housing conditions are bad, and how bad they are. The nation as a whole may be better off, while some areas may be worse. There has been little new housing on farms in 30 years; have farm homes kept up to standard? And how many aged persons are badly housed? How many families are crowded together with other families? Only a census can precisely answer the question: How many homes fail to meet the standards most Canadians regard as adequate in the middle of the 20th century?

Material Reward For Nursing Care

The Gulf Islands Ferry Company thanks all who administer to the sick of the island communities in a very special and pleasant way. The company gives a round trip ticket on their ferries to all members of hospital staffs who "contribute to the wonderful, kind and gentle care given to the folks of our islands."

These hospitals are the Lady Minto Gulf Islands hospital at Ganges; St. Joseph's hospital, the Royal Jubilee hospital, and the Veterans' hospital, Victoria, and all lower Vancouver Island hospitals which have served the people of the islands.

The ticket is good for passage from Vancouver Island to any of the Gulf Islands and return and entitles the bearer to take his own or a friend's car with as many passengers as they wish to bring.

A Man And His Mark

Plimsoll Line Universal

Today, on the port and starboard sides of every ship the "Plimsoll Mark" shows the draft (depth) to which the ship may be safely loaded in different circumstances and in different seasons.

History records that in the 12th century, the crusaders marked the sides of their ships with the Holy Cross; Venetian merchants, some Swedes and a handful of others used various types of symbols on their ships to indicate the safe draft.

It was fairly well understood even among early mariners that the safety of a ship depended largely upon the draft (an indication of the degree of loading on the ship) and upon the freeboard or height of the ship's side out of the water (an indication of the amount of buoyancy in reserve).

Despite efforts by Lloyd's and others there was no general marking of ships by controlled legislation until the end of the 19th century.

Samuel Plimsoll, British member of parliament, shocked at the prevailing conditions, began in 1868 a tireless crusade to have the degree of loading of ships properly regulated. After incredible troubles and many setbacks, his efforts bore fruit when an amendment to the Merchant Shipping Act was passed in 1876.

The typical modern "Plimsoll Mark" is the result of the 1930 International Load Line convention whose recommendations were ratified by the government of virtually every maritime nation in the world, thus bringing true Plimsoll's dream of a universal system for controlling safe drafts and freeboards of ships.

As a matter of practical convenience, governments of maritime nations delegate to classification no-

Air Force Planes Anticipate Display

If any reminder is needed of the Royal Canadian Air Force it is here. The planes depicted are CF 100's which represent one of the first barriers in the Dominion against an invading force. They will be demonstrated once again on Saturday, Aug. 12, when the R.C.A.F. Golden Hawks will go through their paces above the city. The following day will see them at R.C.A.F. Comox.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

Q.—Is it proper to use ruled paper for social correspondence?

A.—This usually makes a bad impression and it is better to avoid using it. If you have trouble writing in a straight line, buy the black-ruled paper which fits under the note paper. These are called guides, and can be purchased in any stationery store.

Q.—When is the proper time for guests to arrive at a church wedding?

A.—From a half-hour to not later than five minutes before the ceremony. All guests should be seated before the parents of the bride and bridegroom arrive.

Q.—When ice cream is served on pie, should the ice cream be eaten with the spoon?

A.—No; the fork should be used.

Q.—When a girl is walking along the street with a man and he speaks to someone she doesn't know, should she speak also?

A.—She should smile and nod her head. This holds true also for the man, should she speak to an acquaintance.

Q.—If a woman is seated in a streetcar or bus, and another woman carrying a baby is standing, should she offer her seat?

A.—Yes; and if there are any men seated nearby, they should be extremely embarrassed for their lack of consideration.

Q.—Should one always change his fork over to the right hand after cutting off a portion of meat with a knife and fork?

A.—This is known as "zig-zag" eating, and is not necessary. It is better to be able to use either hand interchangeably while eating.

Q.—Is it necessary to send a gift when one is invited to a church wedding, but not to the reception?

A.—In this case, it is not necessary. Only an invitation to the reception requires a gift.

Q.—If no individual butter knife is provided at the dinner table, should the meat knife be used for this purpose?

A.—For spreading butter on bread, yes. But when one is putting butter on potatoes or vegetables, then the fork should be used.

Q.—Should a young married woman identify herself over the telephone to a social acquaintance by saying, "This is Sharon Martin," or, "This is Mrs. David Martin?"

A.—"This is Sharon Martin."

Q.—Should the man or the woman make the move to stop for conversation when they meet each other on the street?

A.—It is up to the man to do this.

Chatterton To Attend Discussions

Reeve George Chatterton, newly elected MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, left for Ottawa Tuesday for his swearing-in June 12. He will make his maiden commons speech during the budget debate.

Reeve Chatterton will go to Washington, D.C., June 15 for a four-day conference on municipal affairs.

The reeve's 15-year-old son Drew, is making the trip with him.

NEW LINER ON MAIDEN TRIP TO PACIFIC

S.S. Canberra, the world's newest passenger liner, which carries more passengers than any other ship in the world, left Southampton on her maiden voyage, June 2, for North America.

This inaugurates the big liner's regularly-scheduled Pacific service. The new superliner, part of the P & O-Orient Lines fleet, is 45,270 tons and carries 2,238 passengers.

She will call at Vancouver July 15 and 16, where an elaborate civic celebration is planned to welcome her, according to Warren S. Titus, president of P & O-Orient Lines, North America.

Canberra is the second P & O-Orient liner to go into service this year. The first was Oriana, 42,000 tons, which arrived on Canada's west coast in February.

On her maiden voyage the giant liner will carry passengers from Southampton to the west coast via Gibraltar, Naples, Port Said, Aden, Colombo, Fremantle, Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland and Honolulu. West coast stops are Vancouver, San Francisco and Los Angeles (Long Beach).

She carries 548 first class passengers, 1,690 tourist class and a staff and crew of 1,000.

To celebrate the 30th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Woolridge, 1086 Verdier Ave., their daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. B. Stubbs and Mr. and Mrs. D. Combs held a surprise dinner party for them June 8 at Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs' home, 8411 West Saanich

Road. The rooms were tastefully decorated with blue iris and pink mums, and "Happy Anniversary" in large blue letters was shown on one wall. Mrs. Woolridge received a corsage of pink carnations and during the evening the celebrants were presented with a beautiful floor lamp. Twenty guests sat down to a turkey supper and later in the evening a two-tiered cake bearing the inscription "Happy Anniversary from the Gang" centred the table from which tea was served. A toast to the honored guests was made by Mr. Stubbs. Mr. and Mrs. Woolridge were married in Victoria and settled in this district at that time where they have run a bulb farm, Pacific Growers.

The 4-H field day sponsored by Malahat South 4-H council, was held at Saanichon Saturday. One hundred and eighty members were present and they received instruction in the judging of eight different classes. Yachting and Cruising Take Precedence

Advent of the summer sun will be the ruination of many a garden as its ardent fisherman owner goes to sea. The call of the sea drowns out the plea of the garden and those chores around the house for the greater part of the summer season for many a yachtsman. Cruisers, yachts and rowboats, inboards, outboards and every other kind of craft will be taking the gardener away from his vegetable patch.

Sooke Day Provisions May Be Of Interest In 2161

(By DORIS LEEDHAM HOBBS)

Food and drink must necessarily have a foremost place in our lives, and we are always interested to learn what our forebears lived on.

Just two hundred years ago a candidate for parliament was expected to provide a breakfast for his helpers and constituents. What, I wonder, would our candidates in the recent federal by-election think of having to provide this sort of thing?

By the way this feast was given at the MP's house on the election day. The meal consisted of 31 pigeon pies, 24 sirloins of beef, six collars of beef sliced, 10 cold hams sliced, 244 chickens to eat with the hams, 10 buttocks of beef, six dozen sliced tongues, 11 edge bones of beef, 13 quarters of veal, 44 quarters of lamb, 56 pounds of cheese, eight pounds of chocolate, five pounds of coffee, 20 dozen bottles of strong beer, 10 hogsheds of beer, three hogsheds of wine, and two hogsheds of punch.

My dictionary tells me edge-bone is another name for haunch bone of beef and hogsheds is cask of about 63 gallons capacity.

One can understand a successful candidate, having such a victory feast—but—merely a candidate . . . No wonder only the wealthy could afford to become MPs, for no member was paid for his services.

It was a great move forward in democratic government when members of parliament were given a salary, this enabling clever young politicians to stand for office. Gone are those old days of privilege, but gone too are the days of largesse—of lavish hospitality—of country bean feasts, of village fairs. People in this day and age do not eat as much as did our immediate ancestors. But then wages were low, production costs low and, moreover, there was such restricted transport that the goods produced had of necessity to be consumed in their own locality.

That menu was a feast for strong countrymen in England two hundred years ago. Perhaps an account of Sooke Day provisions will afford some interest in 2161, and people will say, "I can get all the nourishment I need in a few tablets and three glasses of balanced calories"—Give me the good old times!

The human heart rests about eight-tenths of a second between each contraction.

A COURSE FOR FATHER'S DAY

The wind freshens . . . whitecaps form . . . the canvas fills and you are under way.
You have charted the course, noted reefs and shoals, compensated for drift and current. The boy at the helm can steer a true course if you have chosen it well.
Any father must feel the magnitude of the task of guiding his son through life's uncertain waters. What responsible man could fool any other way? This is Fatherhood . . . the realization that nothing is so important as guiding your own son along a course that has maturity of outlook and responsibility as its destination.
Such guidance requires a delicate touch, the mature understanding of a man who has sailed these waters before. And nowhere is this understanding more important than in the practice of Moderation in all things, including the use of whisky. It is this thought which The House of Seagram wishes to leave with you on Father's Day, 1961.

LANTIGEN 'B' ORAL VACCINE gets to the root of the trouble

A vaccine that is swallowed like an ordinary medicine is credited by millions all over the world with the relief of bronchial asthma, sinus and nasal catarrh. The vaccine, known as Lantigen 'B', is taken a few drops at a time in water. Once absorbed by the mucous membranes of the nose, mouth, throat and intestines, it stimulates the production of "anti-bodies", the system's natural antibodies, which attack and destroy the germs and build up the body's resistance.

BENEFITS YOUNG AND OLD

Taken regularly, Lantigen 'B' frees breathing, removes stuffy headachos, relieves congestion. The vaccine is safe even for young people, infants and the aged, and does not produce harmful after-effects or interfere with other treatments.

Anthropologist Is Speaker

(By DORIS LEEDHAM HOBBS)

The fascinating work of the anthropologist was shown on two films on Thursday evening, June 8 in the music room of the public library. These were sponsored by the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare society, and had as their guest speaker Wilson Duff, M.A., curator of anthropology at the provincial museum.

After the business meeting, with D. Beattie in the chair, Mrs. Tullis, past president of the society, introduced Mr. Duff, who explained how the films came into being, both being lent by the CBC.

The first titled "Totem" was concerned with the rescue from Anthony Island in the Queen Charlotte's of all the abandoned totems from derelict village of Ninstant, which could be preserved and boxed for storage and preservation in the museum.

In the film, the audience was taken by small boat to the island where the rows of wonderful totems showed where once a flourishing village stood. Mr. Duff gave an enlightening and interesting talk on the daily life of the Haidas, showing that with the advent of the white traders, iron tools and knives instead of the chipped rock tools, made the carving of totems a thing of great beauty and fine lines. Early in the 19th century this took place, sea otter fur was a valuable commodity, (now sadly, almost non-existent) and the Haidas profited by the barter of these skins. Abalone shells from southern California with their beautiful coloring were much prized and used in jewelry work.

It was from the whites that the carving of argillite received its impetus, and exquisite caskets (boxes) and small totems became part of their trade output.

The villages flourished, large houses with carved and painted house fronts were built. All this came to a tragic end with the epidemics of smallpox which swept the coast Indian villages, leaving a mere remnant of a once flourishing community.

These totems, which this small band of young men salvaged, are unique, and of tremendous historical value; although many were waterlogged and rotten.

Blinding rain poured on their tents, water rose until their ground sheets were under a foot of water—waves dashed on the rocks and shingles bedded, and prevented the boxed totems from being launched and towed out to the ship. However, youth and hardihood saw them through and this great feat was accomplished and a goodly proportion of the movable totems were saved.

No humans live on the island. Deer have eaten the low bushes and bird notes are the only sounds heard. The film was indeed an adventure.

The second was another kind of rescue—this time from dust and cobwebs! For the second film dealt with the absolutely unique and superb collection made by the late William Newcombe (Billy), and his father, a great collector and dedicated anthropologist.

Before our eyes we saw carved figures of medicine men, totem vessels and all the artifacts which belong to the early days of our native Indians and which have such a tremendous value in the history of Canada with its present change to Anglo-Saxon culture—and consequent integration of the Indian bands.

This valuable collection has been handed over to the provincial museum by the provincial government and we, the people of B.C. have been given a present whose value is without price.

Miss Ethel Bruce voiced the thanks of the members and visitors to Mr. Duff at the close of the meeting.

NEW PAINT FOR FIRE HALL HERE

Sidney Fire Hall has changed its color. Last week-end members of the volunteer fire department of Sidney and North Saanich assembled at the hall to give it a new look. The faded white paint has been covered with a bright green. Lettering is picked out in red.

DOOR TO DOOR DELIVERY HINGES ON RESIDENTS

Door-to-door mail delivery may start in Royal Oak the last week in June.

"It all hinges on whether residents have installed proper mail slots or receptacles for delivery," a post office spokesman said last week. Every home in the area had been canvassed earlier, he said and had been advised that the change-over was taking place.

A final check is being made this week to determine whether the required percentage of homes is equipped to receive mail. A minimum of 80 per cent must meet requirements before Victoria can apply for permission to institute home delivery of mail.

The change-over will also bring Royal Oak's postal rate down to the four cent level. The four cent rate will apply from Victoria to Keating Cross Road.

TO STABILITY "This will be a big step towards stabilizing the postal rate in the Greater Victoria area," the post office official said. "We have as many as 100 letters a day at the Royal Oak post office that require payment of a further two cents."

He warned that homeowners who have not installed mail slots or receptacles would be obliged to pick up their undelivered mail at the Victoria post office. About 400 houses and 12 stores are in the new delivery zone.

The Royal Oak post office will be closed and a sub-postal station established. Two of the three employees at Royal Oak will be moved to jobs in Victoria and the third is retiring. One new carrier will be taken on to service the new area.

MY GOODNESS MY GARDEN!

(By ELSIE WORTHINGTON)

Some time ago I was given a dwarf Rochester peach tree.

Having learned that peaches do not like a diet of heavy clay soil as my land offers, I prepared the site with great care. A large hole was dug and two barrows of good compost replaced the clay. The little tree was planted with fond hopes. Two years later it is still alive, still small, and certainly not flourishing.

The other day I picked off the curled leaves and burned them, and gave the tree a belated dusting with chloradane for bugs. The poor little thing looks quite demoralized and forlorn. I'm afraid its days are numbered.

However, a garden has its compensations. Take my escallonia shrub, for instance. I understand it was a going concern until the Great Freeze of November, 1955.

When we took over the garden the next spring, we planned to take the (then) unknown stump, but didn't get to do it for a couple of seasons. To our surprise there was a long healthy shoot growing from the bottom. The dead part of the stump was removed and the rest planted in a more promising place where it continued to throw out new shoots.

ATTRACTIVE FEATURE

In early summer we were delighted by a cluster of deep pink, bell-like blooms, almost an inch across. The handsome evergreen leaves made the shrub an attractive feature of the garden during the following winter months. My plant, after three years, is now almost three feet high and as wide. It blooms profusely in May and June and moderately for the remainder of the summer.

How quickly we become adjusted to our environment, even to the persistent rain of the past spring! In chatting with a friend in the village the other day, she expressed the opinion that we needed some rain. To my surprise "What! Already?" she replied: "We don't want the gardens to dry out too much."

I wonder when the scientists will get around to controlling the weather so that we have sunshine every day during the summer, and rain (when needed) only at night! Surely that would satisfy everyone!

DRIVING SHED IS DEMOLISHED

Demolition of the old driving shed of Salt Spring Island Trading Company store is being carried out by W. Crawford. The site will be used for customer parking.

The shed was erected in 1913 for use of the horse and buggy trade. For many years it provided shelter for the Island fire engine.

Tomorrow is the greatest labor-saving device of today.

Island Growers Are Told Report Diseases At Once

At an open meeting of Salt Spring Island Chrysanthemum Society, Jack James, retired agriculturist, speaking on "Fertilizers and Control of Diseases and Pests in Vegetables", stressed the importance of starting with good seed; the necessity for weed control to give maximum nourishment to plants, and the value of proper fertilizing and cultivation.

The use of colored slides helped the audience to recognize many types of fertilizer to use for the successful growing of vegetables. He said that any cases of onion smut or potato bacterial rot should be reported at once to the authorities, so that control measures could be started without delay.

A lively discussion period followed the lecture. Mr. James answered many questions and helped his audience to appreciate the artistic as well as the economic value of well-grown vegetables.

Austin Wilson, club president, thanked the speaker for giving time from a busy schedule, and spoke of the valuable help received. Mrs. S. Clabourne and Mrs. A. Wilson served refreshments.

Mermaid Is Placed First Yet Again

Galiano is proud of the 11 boys who have an admirable record of winning 15 out of 16 canoe races.

The sleek Mermaid went to Cultus Lake last week-end and won the first race of the 11-man canoe race, then lost the second.

These men train very hard, and it was the first time they had ever paddled in fresh water, and found quite a difference in the weight.

The captain of this team is John Crocker, with Joe Harris, stroke; Dave Louie, Dan Daniels, Gary Harris, Gordon Elliott, Don and Bayliss Louie, Elmer, Jim and Ken Sampson. Their next race will be at Gooseberry Point, in the United States. All Galiano eyes will be on the Mermaid, hoping for another win.

SOUTH PENDER

Lt.-Cmdr. and Mrs. W. Walker and three children of Victoria, spent the week-end at their summer home on the island.

After an absence of eight months, Mrs. Marie C. Craddock, and daughter Patricia, have returned and taken up residence in their Camp Bay home.

Stanley Lettner spent a few days in Kelowna on business last week.

Mrs. B. A. Trump has returned to Kelowna after spending a week at Bedwell. She plans to return for the summer with the two younger daughters, when school closes.

Busiest man on the Islands these days is census taker Herbert Spalding. He reports work going well with South Pender finished, and North Pender nearly so. Saturna, Mayne and the smaller islands to go.

The night time peace and calm of Bedwell Harbour was broken in the wee small hours of the morning last Friday, when a helicopter shattered the quiet, and kicked up a dust storm just back of the Trump residence around 4 a.m. It was an air-sea rescue mission. HMCS Fraser, anchored in the Bay, turned up a cadet suffering an attack of acute appendicitis, and the helicopter was set down to pick up the lad, and fly him to sick bay at Naden. All ended happily, and everyone went back to bed.

John Scoones and Wally Bradley, of North Pender, have been awarded the contract to dig the holes for the power poles, and work will start this week.

Land of Dreams and Summer Sun

The land of dreams . . . a summer afternoon, the blue sea and the trees above are a local recipe for gentle relaxation. The ingredients are everywhere in the district and the candidates for the treatment swarm here from many leagues away. Here is a sample of the course.

Pencilings . . . from Pender

(By V. SHIRLEY)

The Rev. and Mrs. John Romeril, and four children, stopped at Hope Bay last week on the Swarthout, and picked up the boxes of clothing for the west coast needy Indian families. A quiet meeting of the United church women was held on the boat, and the Rev. Romeril told of his work up and down the coast from Bamfield to Estevan Point. The littlest Romeril is only three months old . . . John Scoones and Wally Bradley will soon be making earth and gravel fly on South Pender when they start pouncing poles . . . The strawberry season is here, and with so much rain, they are large and luscious. And the Strawberry Tea, on Wednesday, June 21, will feature lots of them, all wrapped up in short-cake and glazed cream. It's to be held at The Glade and the U.C.W. are working hard to make it a success. Other features this year too, but you'll have to attend to see . . . Is the saddle horse that arrived on the island with some fanfare last week, a palomino? It has the coloring. Horses are scarce on the Islands now. Rather a pity, especially with everyone struggling with grass . . . There is something new on Pender—a roadside snack bar dispensing milk shakes, ice cream and other light refreshments. The Doug Dodds are operating the stand, and it's on the Main Road—a boon to travellers . . . Another new house is going up on Pender. George Pearson is constructing a modern dwelling on his Armadale property—a very attractive little home, too . . . Work on the Port Washington slip has not started yet.

ISLAND LADY MOURNED AFTER 40 YEARS HERE

A resident of Pender Island for 40 years, Mrs. Nellie Blatchford, 84, passed away in Vancouver, on Wednesday, June 7, after a long illness.

Mrs. Blatchford visited on Pender shortly after she lost her husband during the First World War, when a Red Cross hospital where he was recovering from wounds, was bombed in France. In 1921 she built a home at Port Washington and had resided there ever since.

A daughter, Annie, predeceased her. She is survived by one son, Ernest, of Vancouver, two granddaughters, and two great-granddaughters. Funeral services were held in Vancouver on Saturday, at the Harron Brothers Chapel of Chimes.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND AIDED BY DONATION TEA

Donation tea in aid of HMS Ganges Chapter IODE annual scholarship for a graduating student in the Ganges high school, was held in St. George's parish hall on June 8, when an enjoyable afternoon was spent by about 150 guests.

Mrs. Earl Hardie, regent, assisted by Mrs. W. M. Mout, received the guests, who included friends from many parts of the Island, and most of the school teachers.

Pouring tea were Mrs. G. H. Holmes, Mrs. V. C. Best, Mrs. W. N.

LIONS REGAIN GAVEL FROM DUNCAN CLUB

Dr. Ted Jansch successfully retrieved the Salt Spring Island Lions club gavel from the Duncan Lions club on Saturday night. The occasion was the installation dinner held in the Maple Bay Inn by the Duncan group, and attended by 30 Salt Spring Island Lions and guests.

The gavel, which may legally be taken by another club, is now back home in watchful care of Tail Twister Dr. Jansch.

An evening of dancing followed the dinner. Songs by Salt Spring Lions trio, Don Morrison and Irl and Wayne Bradley, added to the pleasure of a very enjoyable evening. A special ferry brought the party back from Crofton.

were served by members of the Women's Association.

Mrs. E. J. Ashlee paid a brief visit to her sister, Miss Joyce Herrod, in Vancouver.

Rev. G. H. Underhill and Mrs. Underhill, Calgary, are visiting Mr. Underhill's sister, Mrs. Frank Frederickson, Ganges, and brother Ray Underhill, Walkers Hook. OUT OF THE MIXING BOWL Pink As An Apple Blossom

(By MURIEL WILSON)

What would the world do without grandmothers? Yesterday I looked after Jay Patrick our red headed, seventeenth of Ireland, grandson. It took three people to carry in the paraphernalia necessary to look after him for the day. Cleopatra could not have been better when she set out to snare Anthony.

There was the small crib complete with bedding, towels, clean clothes and safety pins. There was special soap, talcum powder, baby oil and a foot-high stack of diapers. There was the thermos case with its bottles of formula and the precious babe himself. I'll admit he is a pretty important addition to the family . . . it has taken us over 40 years to produce one red headed Wilson.

I'd forgotten how ambidextrous a mother has to be . . . she must be able to get a meal with a baby on her hip, to eat her own meal with one hand and sing a lullaby while planning what to have for dinner. I have not forgotten how to burp a small baby but I'd not get top marks for diapering the cherub . . . before the day was out I gave up on the fancy folds and reverted to the old fashioned three-cornered folding.

FUTURE UNCERTAIN

When a small hand, pink as an apple blossom curls around your finger it makes your heart skip a beat . . . what does the future hold for today's babies? Never was a future so uncertain, so unpredictable. Perhaps we are too fearful . . . perhaps the children of today will inherit a great splendid future when the secrets of the universe will be unlocked and used for man's delight instead of his destruction.

The new part of being a grandmother is having grandchildren to love for a few hours at a time. It takes the strength and stamina of youth to care for children 24 hours a day. It is pleasant to have parents pick up their child when the day is done. Grandparent's love is large and generous but their strength can not keep up to the demands and energy of small children. Even tiny babies require constant care.

How sweet that art, my pet And yet

Thy baby . . . how wet. Even with wet pants, a tiny baby is mighty sweet . . . I really mean it. They are so helpless, so defenceless. It is hard to project your thoughts forward a few years and see a harem-scarum boy with grubby hands, scratched knees and torn trousers . . . a boy who can think of, and get into more mischief in an hour than an adult could think possible. An angel with a devil lurking in his big blue eyes, so very far removed from the innocent sleeping babe.

Love is a strange emotion . . . the tender love for the helpless baby

PARTY COVERS SEVEN JUNE BIRTHDAYS

Christopher and Donald Diel were hosts at a party in the Hope Bay hall, Pender Island, Saturday evening, June 10, celebrating Christopher's 12th birthday, and also honoring all those having June birthdays among their young friends. These included Sharon Bowerman, Mary Johnson, Faith Brackett, Margaret Amies and Billy Logan. In all, 22 guests made the rafters ring in merriment as they square danced, played musical chairs, blind man's bluff and other games.

Climax came when the balloons decorating the hall were taken down and the guests went through the manoeuvres of the square dance, holding a balloon in each hand.

A birthday cake of grand proportions, bearing the names of the six special children, with a candle for each, graced the refreshment table, and six united puffs extinguished the flames in a twinkling. Hot dogs and fruit drinks rounded out the menu.

Braves Head League After Losing But One Game In Five

Last Wednesday proved unexciting for Little League fans with Brentwood Flyers beating Deep Cove Bombers 14 to 4.

Richard Stansfield pitched a good close game, backed by a very tight field. Bomber pitchers Jim Hartshorne, Ricky Pumble and Jimmy Darkes failed to hold down the hard hitting Flyers.

At Sidney ANAF Braves whipped the Aces 29 to 3 with pitching honors for the Braves going to Wayne Ruffie. Legion pitchers Bill Clarke and Terry Ellison just couldn't seem to get the ball over the plate, allowing numerous unearned runs.

Saturday's games were both rained out.

It was a fielder's holiday Sunday at Deep Cove with Doug Hannan and Bob McCutcheon pitching. Very few hits were allowed and strikeouts were the order of the day. An attempted steal home changed the course of the game for Deep Cove and Braves won 3 to 1.

At Sidney Legion Aces downed the Flyers 13 to 6. Bob Johnstone and Jeff Peace pitched a fair game for Brentwood but field errors were costly. Ray Perry was the winning pitcher. Big hit of the game was Stanley Collin's three-base hit driving in three runs.

League standings: ANAF won 4, lost 1; Legion won 3, lost 2; Bombers won 1, lost 4.

AT DEEP COVE

Official opening of Deep Cove Little League will find Bombers entertaining the Brentwood Flyers. A big day is planned with a father's softball game immediately after the regular league game.

WEEKLY REPORT OF NORTH SAANICH STATION

(By N. V. TONKA)

In the days when the medicine man used to tour the countryside selling his cures for a great variety of human ills, one of the symptoms which his magic elixir was guaranteed to cure was "Spots Before the Eyes".

This year many gardeners find themselves suffering the same symptoms in the form of reddish or dark brown spots covering the leaves of their pear or mountain ash trees. The logical diagnosis would be that the trees have been attacked by a fungus or other disease-producing organism. Actually, the organism responsible is a very small creature known as the pear leaf blister mite. While there is no magic elixir to cure the spots caused by this pest, an application of lime sulphur or a combination of lime sulphur and dormant oil during the winter season will give good control. Treatments applied during the growing season are not very effective, since the mites are too well protected within the blisters at this time.

The pear leaf blister mite is just one of a number of related species of mites known variously as eriophyid mites, gall mites, blister mites, rust mites, or bud mites. They are probably the smallest arthropods which attack agricultural crops. Most of them are barely visible, if at all, to the unaided eye. Their feeding may cause gall on

Young Victoria Artist Demonstrates New Style

A general meeting of the Saanich Peninsula art centre was held at Hotel Sidney on the evening of June 5.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. F. J. Eves, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. C. Hunt. Reports were given by the various committee chairmen.

An oil painting by local artist, Mrs. Doris Horton, was presented by the members to Mr. L. M. Quebec, as a token of appreciation for the generous assistance Mr. Quebec has extended to the Art Centre.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the well-known Victoria artist, Stephen Lowe, gave a demonstration of Chinese water color painting. Mr. Lowe stated he did not know the English language well enough to explain his methods in detail and would therefore have to rely on the eloquence of his brushes, which proved more than adequate.

COMPARATIVELY NEW Mr. Lowe is a student of the Jit Cheung style of painting which is a comparatively new style in China, since he is only the fourth generation to have studied it. This style of painting is characterized by an economy of brush strokes and therefore requires a sure hand.

Such perfection can only be achieved by a great deal of practice and, no doubt, Mr. Lowe's skill could be attributed to his remark, "I would start to practice at nine in the morning and would still be painting

The meeting closed with prayer, and tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. P. Brethour and Mrs. P. Nanson.

Next meeting will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 6.

Hand Holds Can Save Lives

Hundreds of new boat owners and operators are taking to the sea and lakes to join the thousands of "old-timers" of the boating fraternity.

A great number of the boats now in use are smooth hulled and, if for any reason the boat capsizes, offer little opportunity to those who are thrown into the water to observe the standard safety rule of: "Hold On" or "Stay with the Boat".

The British Columbia Safety Council therefore recommends that owners of pleasure boats equip their vessels with "rubbing strips" or "spray rails" adapted to provide hand-holds for such emergencies. They will serve a similar purpose to those who may fall overboard or for any other reason may require to "hang on". The illustration shows how.

1. A piece of 1"x1" hardwood stock to reach from a suitable point aft of the bow stem as shown, and continuing aft, is fixed to each side of the boat with 3/16" or 1/4" rust-proof bolts and washers. The ends of the strips are tapered or continue into the swim grid. A similar strip leaves, swollen or abnormal buds, abnormal branching, russetting on fruit or foliage, or other symptoms.

CARRIED

Since these mites are so small, they have little control over their means of distribution. Their dispersion is dependent upon wind, insects, birds, and other carriers. Most species are widely distributed. In fact, one of the most recent crop pests to arrive on Vancouver Island is a species of eriophyid mite which attacks holly. This latest arrival is the subject of continuing investigations at the experimental farm to learn more about its habits and control.

should be fitted on the inside of the hull, to serve as a batten or clamp and provide reinforcement.

2. Hand-holds are provided by placing 1"x1" blocks or spacers between the rail and the hull at each point where the rail is drilled for a bolt—approximately every 10" or 12" depending on hull construction.

3. Hand-holds may also be provided by using 1"x2" stock and notching out a number of spaces to provide the necessary grips.

4. The combination hand-hold and "rubbing strips" or "spray rails" are fitted to the boat as low down as possible to the water line without impeding or interfering with the operation of the boat.

Pot Luck Supper

The WA of St. Paul's United church, Sidney, held a pot luck dinner in the church parlor at 12:30, June 7. Many members of circles as well as visitors attended.

Mrs. Smith, president of the WMS then introduced Mrs. Jameson, guest speaker from Victoria.

Mr. Jameson gave a recording of the reception given to his son and friend arriving in Angola.

Mrs. Dawson, president of the WA, took over and a brief business meeting followed. Minutes of the last meeting and reports of circles were read. Mrs. Dawson wished all a happy holiday.

makes the simplest painting a delight to the eye. Everything is carefully planned right to the last stroke, for even the signature is an integral part of the whole picture and, if misplaced, could spoil an entire painting.

Another notable feature of Chinese painting is that these exquisite pictures are created without any preliminary sketching whatever, and yet cannot be surpassed for grace of line and movement.

Thirty-Seven Received Their Degrees From The University

(By DORIS LEEDHAM HOBBS)

Inspiring music by the Royal Canadian Engineers band entertained the large audience gathered in the old drill hall at the Gordon Head campus on May 29, while waiting for the impressive processions to take their places. His honor the Lieut.-Governor in his scarlet doctorate gown, the faculty in their black gowns with vivid hoods and robes, the mace carrier, all took their places on the platform.

Usually these academic affairs are predominantly black, but here massed flowers glowed like jewels against a scarlet cloth facing the platform, and huge baskets of Russell lupins, with festoons of greenery flanked the stage.

Thirty-seven students received their BA, BSc. and Bachelor of Education degrees at the hands of the chancellor of UBC, and for the first time Victoria University granted its own degrees. The occasion was quite historic, and the speakers alluded to the early beginning of the college in 1902 and its phenomenal growth to the present embryo university.

The honorary degrees struck a human note, for an LLD was bestowed on Rosalind Young, widow of D. H. Essen Young, one-time minister of education. Mrs. Young was a teacher in 1902 after a distinguished career in natural science at McGill and received her degree in absentia.

The only other honorary degree was conferred on Dr. Charles Johnstone Armstrong, president of the University of Nevada, who said that he had spent "two of the most valuable years of his academic training at Victoria College." Dr. Armstrong gave the congregation address on "The Idea of a University", in which he stressed the idea that freedom of thought must go hand in hand with responsibility, that the humanities must balance the scientific and technological pursuits and that the aim was to make cultivated human beings.

The four aims of a university—truth, beauty, excellence and freedom were felt, carried out in the teaching of a true modern university. Free discussion of ideas must be maintained with vigor but, Dr. Armstrong said, it was not the province of any teacher to use his position for propaganda purposes. To Control Those Weeds!

Some Hints On Use Of Sprays

Corn growers who want to get out of hoeing should try a pre-emergence treatment of the crop with atrazine or simazine. These herbicides, applied as sprays at two or three pounds of active ingredient per acre, have remained effective longer than the well known DNB amine, states R. M. Adamson of the experimental farm at Saanichton.

Atrazine is more effective than simazine in dry weather. The latter, however, can be made effective by watering after application. When conditions remain dry, DNB amine acts only against weeds that have emerged. At Saanichton, DNB amine at three pounds per acre added to either atrazine or simazine controlled resistant weeds such as wild buckwheat.

Atrazine is promising also as a post-emergence treatment. Corn six to eight inches high was not injured by a two pound application per acre and fair control of weeds was obtained.

GALIANO DRAWS PHOTOGRAPHS OF WHITE ROCK

On the invitation of Dr. L. Robinson, eight members of the White Rock Color Photography Club spent Saturday, June 3 on Galiano Island.

Dr. Robinson is a former member of this club, and enjoyed seeing his friends again, he is also an ardent photographer. They were met at the Island Princess by several cars and taken for lunch to the doctor's home, after which they went to Miss Clark-son's home on Active Pass Drive, where they saw the two government ferries go by.

Next stop was the B.C. Electric cable towers, with their magnificent view of Montague Harbour. Some time was spent photographing the many views from North Galiano.

On arrival back at Dr. Robinson's home, tea was served.

Those coming over were Mr. and Mrs. F. Steele, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lowen, Mrs. Kirster and F. Pickles. Besides the car of the host, Mr. H. Shopland and G. Sidders also went on the tour.

this he toured from a by-law which had been incorporated into the university of Nevada rules, prohibiting any teacher from bringing in questions foreign to his subject for political purposes.

As technological advances gave more and more people leisure, he felt that a liberal education in the humanities which were based on Greek culture, was needed before specialization was attempted. Acting principal R. T. Wallace introduced the guest speaker.

D. MacKenzie, president of the University of B.C. in a happy speech, congratulated the first graduates to receive degrees on this occasion.

The ceremony of conferring the graduate degrees was performed by Dr. Hickman and the chancellor of the university who spoke of the present excellence of teaching, the wise counsel and the good judgment of the staff and the industry, patience, integrity and good fellowship of the students.

Those who attended this splendid ceremony were able to look around at the expanse of 332 acres of university campus, now unplanned and without buildings—"What will it become in future years?" asked his honor Judge J. B. Clerihue in his opening remarks.

Tea was served in the faculty building at the close of the first annual congregation of Victoria University.

TURTLE IS NATIVE OF B.C. AND IS FOUND IN TWO AREAS HERE

Few people realize that the turtle, usually associated with the southern climates, can be found in British Columbia. Indeed he can be found in the Okanagan and Thompson valley, Vancouver Island and Pender Harbour on the mainland coast of British Columbia. The British Columbian turtle is called the Western Painted Turtle, and can be distinguished by the brilliant colours on the underpart. Fresh water turtles are properly called Terrapins and although they have no teeth their jaws are equipped with chisel-like biting edges.

Two Initiations Featured At Island Legion Meeting

Highlighting the regular monthly meeting of the Pender Island branch of the Royal Canadian Legion held in the Smith cottage, Friday evening, June 9, was the initiation of Bishop M. E. Coleman, as branch chaplain, and membership initiation of Harry Johnson.

L. J. Armstrong officiated at the special initiation ceremony for Bishop Coleman and Max Allan performed the membership initiation for Mr. Johnson.

LAST RITES FOR G. BUTTERWORTH ON TUESDAY

Death claimed George Butterworth on Saturday, June 10, at his residence, 10775 Pat Bay Highway. Mr. Butterworth was born in England and had been a resident of Sidney for the past five years. He was 76.

Private funeral services were held in the Sands Funeral Chapel of Roses, Sidney, on Tuesday, June 13. Canon F. C. Vaughan-Birch officiated. Interment followed in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

The Famous Don Cossack Chorus

World-famous Gen. Platoff Don Cossack choir and dancers will perform in Sidney's SANSCHA Hall on the evening of Saturday, Oct. 28, and wide interest has been aroused by the booking here of the well-known troupe. Their thrilling songs and spectacular dancing have thrilled countless thousands over a period of years. The Cossacks are sponsored here by Sidney Rotary Club and a brisk ticket sale is already reported. Tickets may be secured from any member of the club.

DELEGATES REPORT ON CONVENTION

The monthly meeting of the LA to the Royal Canadian Legion was held in the Legion hall on June 6. Members expressed their pleasure at seeing Mrs. W. J. Jackson back in the chair after her long illness.

Mrs. C. Elliott handed in eight pairs of bed sox, knitted by herself and helpers, to be donated to the Veterans' hospital in Victoria.

Mrs. Jack Green, who is leaving the Island, was presented with a silver spoon bearing the insignia of the Legion.

The Lady Minto hospital now has on file a list of blood donors and their types, it was reported.

Following the meeting, Miss D. Anderson gave a report on the convention, attended by Mrs. C. Elliott and herself.

Hospital visiting will be continued throughout the summer, but no further activities were planned for the summer months. The next meeting will be held in September.

GRADUATION OF 23 SEES END OF SOPRON FACULTY

(By DORIS LEEDHAM HOBBS) As I left the assembly hall at Gordon Head campus after the first "congregation" for granting degrees, I picked up a copy of the university of British Columbia newspaper the "Ubyssy".

The most interesting and arresting piece of information I gathered from it referred to the graduation of the last 23 Hungarians of the Sopron faculty. The Sopron faculty was founded in Selmec, Hungary in 1809 and will have in its records the fact that in 1957 it was given asylum by Canada, and migrated in 1956 via Austria, after the ill-fated Hungarian revolt.

Then, writes Dean K. Roller of the Sopron faculty, about 200 students, 30 professors and their families fled across the border to Austria, and with the help of the Canadian government and by invitation of the university of B.C., and invaluable aid from the Powell River Company, found a new alma mater and a home.

These were young intellectuals and their choice, a momentous one, took into due consideration the sad fact that extreme ideologies were in absolute power. That either the phalanx of the Nazis or the kolkhoz of the Communists would continue to destroy the identity of the individual. These professors and students wished to regain their freedom.

Dean Roller points out the dramatic example of contrasts in today's political social situation. On one hand, dictatorship which relentlessly casts out these young people because of their ideals; on the other a western democracy, which reaches a helping hand to the persecuted from other lands to give them freedom.

Good Wishes Are Expressed For Two In Hospital

June meeting of St. John's WA was held on June 6 at the home of Mrs. A. Holder, with Mrs. Hardingham in the chair, and 16 members and one visitor present.

Mrs. J. Beattie read the devotional, giving a comparison between the old and new translation of the bible. The ladies regretted that two of their members, Mrs. R. Hider and Mrs. J. Stevens were in hospital, and wished each a speedy recovery.

Mrs. E. Gardner gave a short report on the aims of the World Council of Churches.

Final preparations were made for the strawberry tea to be held on Saturday, June 24 in the grounds of St. John's hall.

Tea was served by Mesdames A. Holder, R. McLennan and W. Lannan.

Trouble that looks like a mountain from a distance, usually is only a hill when you get to it.

Building Tenders Approved

New municipal building at Saanichton to house the water department, part of the fire department and possibly the civil defence office was approved by Central Saanich council on Tuesday evening.

The structure will be 24 ft. by 34 ft. Tenders are to be invited on two sizes. An additional length of 10 feet is contemplated subject to the cost being within reach of the council.

STRAWBERRY TEA BY MALE KITCHEN STAFF

On Saturday the members of Sidney Kinsmen club, Sanscha and other groups will turn their hands to the culinary arts when they stage a strawberry tea. All work in connection with the kitchen and the serving will be undertaken by the male volunteer staff.

The novel tea will be presented in Sanscha hall and proceeds will go to Sanscha.

A sale of home cooking which will be offered during the afternoon will not be a men-only affair. The home cooking will be the products of the skills of local housewives.

Native Of Norway Is Called By Death In Hospital Here

Ellef O. Grimsrud, aged 77 years, passed away at Rest Haven hospital on Sunday, June 11. Mr. Grimsrud was born in Norway, and for the past three years resided at 9632 Third St., Sidney.

He leaves his wife Florence, at home; five sons, Dr. H. A. Grimsrud, Vancouver, B.C.; Irvin, Edmonton, Alta.; Elmar, Wembley, Alta.; Olav, Williams Lake, B.C.; and Roy, Hay River, N.W.T.; one step-son and three step-daughters; also two brothers, Ben Bow Island, Alta., and Gilbrun, Norway, and 15 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the Sands Chapel of Roses, Sidney, on Friday, June 16, at 1 p.m., Canon F. C. Vaughan-Birch officiating. Cremation will follow.

COLD WET SPRING YIELDS BUMPER BERRY CROP

The weather for May had below normal temperatures, sunshine and evaporation and above normal rainfall, reports the Experimental farm of Saanichton. During the first half of the month growth was very slow but it picked up with the warm weather towards the end of the month.

The monthly mean temperature was 52.8 F. compared to the 48-year average of 53.7 F. The mean maximum was 60.3 F. and the mean minimum 45.4 F. compared to the long term averages of 62.0 F. and 45.3 F. respectively. A high temperature of 74 F. was recorded on the 18th and 19th and the low of 39 F. was recorded on the 7th.

Rainfall amounted to 1.71 inches compared to the 48-year average of 1.10 inches. The heaviest rainfall of 0.54 inch was recorded on May 22. There were 10 days with rain.

Daily sunshine was 1.6 hours below normal. There were 209.1 hours compared to 258.3 hours for the long term monthly average.

Evaporation was also much below normal. From a free-water surface 2.92 inches evaporated during the month compared to 3.73 inches for the 12 year average. Latent evaporation, using the black Bellani plate, shows 730.9 c.c. of evaporation compared to the 5-year average of 879.1 c.c.

Generally speaking the spring has been cold and wet and has favoured the production of cool season crops. Bumper hay and cereal crops are expected. Small fruits (strawberries and logans) and cole vegetables are expected to be excellent. The cherry crop is expected to be poor and continued wet weather has favoured the production of apple scab.

Tell some people can't get along without them and before too long you can't get along with them.

Raps By-law

Sign by-law in Central Saanich is not firm enough and is not being enforced. This charge was made by Councillor W. F. Grafton at Tuesday evening's meeting of Central Saanich council.

"We let anyone put up any sign they like," he observed. "The by-law doesn't have a ghost of a chance of holding water."

The council will consider revising the by-law with comparison against other by-laws.
